RAILROADS.

WATERTOWN DIVISION OF THE MILWAUKEE & LA CROSSE R. R.

Change of Time.

ON AND AFTER Monday, Oct. 6, 1856, passenger trains will leave Milwaukee twice a day, as follows:

At 7.15 a. m., arriving at Watertown at 11 a. m., and at 5.55 p. m., arriving at Watertown at 9 p. M.

Going East leaves Watertown at 6.45 a. m., arriving at Milwaukee at 10 a. m., and at 2.30 p. m., arriving at Milwaukee at 5.50 p. m.

All the trains make direct connections with the trains of the Mil. & Miss. R. R., at the Junction, taking passengers to Madison, Janesville, etc., and from those places to Watertown. The morning train from Watertown connects with the Trains of the Lake Shore Road, and the evening Train with steamers for Chicago. Stages run in connection with the Cars at Watertown, for Madison, Jefferson, Portland, Columbus, Sun Prairie, Portage City, and all principal points west and north west.
oct7 BYRON KILBOURN, Supt.

MILWAUKEE & MISSISSIPPI R. R.

FALL ARRANGEMENT.

ON AND AFTER October 6th, 1856, the trains will run between Milwaukee, Janesville, Madison and Muscoda, which is 150 miles West of Milwaukee and 40 miles from Prairie du Chien, as follows:

LEAVE MILWAUKEE

At 8.30 a. m., connecting at Milton with the train from Chicago on the St. Paul R. R., arriving at Madison at 1.30 p. m., and at Muscoda at 6.00 p. m.

Leave Milwaukee also at 4 p. m., connecting at Milton with the train from Chicago, and arriving at Madison at 9 p. m.

LEAVE MADISON.

At 7.00 a. m., connecting at Janesville with the St. Paul train from Chicago, and arriving at Milwaukee at 12 m. By this train passengers have time to dine in Milwaukee and reach Chicago by the Lake Shore R. R. in time for the 9 p. m. trains going East.

LEAVE MUSCODA.

At 10 a. m., arrive in Madison at 1.30 p. m., dine, and take the 5 p. m. train for Janesville, where it connects with the St. Paul train or Chicago; and arrives in Milwaukee at 8 p. m., in time for the 9 p. m. Boats to Chicago, arriving there in time to take the early morning trains going East.

The morning train from Milwaukee takes passengers from Milwaukee and Chicago through to Muscoda, where they connect with Davis & Moore's Stages for Prairie du Chien.

This is already the shortest and cheapest route to the Upper Mississippi.

A train leaves Madison at 8 a. m. for Muscoda, and returns, leaving Muscoda at 4.30 p. m., on the arrival of the Stages from Prairie du Chien. By this arrangement, passengers leaving Prairie du Chien in the morning reach Madison at 7 p. m. of the same day.

Passengers who leave Madison at 7 a. m. via Janesville and St. Paul R. R. arrive in Chicago in time for the 8½ p. m. trains East.

Passengers by Davis & Moore's Stages will be conveyed to and from the several stations on the arrival and departure of the Cars, to Galena, Mineral Point, Dodgeville, Richland City, Baraboo and Sauk City.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CHEAP
FAMILY SEWING MACHINES!

THE undersigned would beg to call the attention of the public, and of the Ladies in particular, to the Little Giant Sewing Machine, now in operation at his rooms in the Law Buildings, cor. of Wisconsin and Main Sts.,

in this city. These machines are alike adapted to sewing linen, cotton and woollen staples, simple in their construction, work easily and rapidly, not easily got out of repair, and are sold at a price so moderate, as to bring them within the reach of all. A child of twelve years old, will do more work in one day with one of these machines than can be done in a week in the ordinary way.

Ladies and gentlemen from city and country are respectfully invited to call and examine it, and, if pleased with its operation, leave their orders. Prices $10 and $12.

Country rights for sale, and machines furnished to purchasers of Territory at a liberal discount.

Industrious, intelligent young men, of good address, will do well to engage in canvassing the State. Office hours from 8 to 12 A. M., and from 2 to 5 P. M.

Correspondents of the late Agent, T. W. Johnson, of Chicago, will please address,
E. SPRAGUE, Agent,

WILLIAM DANIELL,
TEACHER OF MUSIC,
Graduate of the Royal Academy of Music, London.

RESPECTFULLY solicits pupils for instruction on the Piano Forte, Singing or thorough Bass. He has recently removed to this city, and to the consideration of those whose views are favorable to a thorough acquirement of Vocal or Instrumental music, he offers a portion of the testimonials received during nearly twenty years experience at the South. Among his pupils have been members of the following families:

Major General Scott, United States Army.
Commodore Jones.
Judge Stannard.
Governor Gilmer.
General Payton.
W. H. Mitchell.
—— Auchincloss, Esq.
C. Osborne, Esq.
J. Y. Mason, Secretary of the Navy.
Thos. Ritchie, Esq., Editor of "The Union."
W. H. McFarland, President Farmers' Bank of Va.
T. G. Blair, Cashier Farmers' Bank of Va.
Hon. W. C. Rives.
—— Miller, Esq., of the firm of Lee, Miller & Eaton.
—— Hosmer, Esq. " Hosmer, Hoxie & Co.
G. W. Peckham, Milwaukee.
E. Coit, Milwaukee.

TESTIMONIALS:

We take pleasure in recommending Mr. Wm. Daniell, a Professor of Music, a gentleman of unexceptionable character, who has been a resident of this city for the last 10 or 12 years, and has been teaching in almost every respectable family here with great success, and has given general satisfaction.
T. J. FRY, Richmond, Va.

Communications left at the house of Mr. Mason, or Hempsted, promptly attended to. nov15d712

MORE CREDENTIALS TO WILLIAM DANIELL.

READ! READ!

I HAVE the pleasure to say that Mr. W. Daniell, Professor of Music, has been a resident of this city for many years, he has borne an unexceptionable character for integrity; I have been acquainted with him nearly the whole term of his residence here, and know that his talent, science and proficiency in Music are of a very high order. I have had the better opportunity of forming this opinion from his having taught in my family some years, wherein he testified his superior ability as a teacher, by the extraordinary advancement of his pupils, in the highest grade of the art. T. G. BLAIR,
Cashier of the Farmers' Bank of Va.

Mr. Wm. Daniell has been, for several years past, the Organist of the Church of which I am the Rector. He is a very skillful performer, both upon the Organ and Piano, and I feel gratified to be able to bear testimony to his skill and talent. GEO. WOODBRIDGE,
Rector of Monumental Church, Richmond, Va.

Pupils attended at their own residence, or they can come to me, as they choose.

News of the Morning.

It will be seen by our despatch from Madison that in Joint Convention, yesterday, Judge DOOLITTLE received 79 votes, Mr. DUNN 36 and 2 scattering. Whereupon the President of the Convention declared the votes cast for Judge DOOLITTLE out of order. An appeal was taken and the decision of the Chair overruled.

The details of steamer's news will be found under telegraph head.

Lord NAPIER has been appointed Minister to Washington.

The Arch-Bishop of Paris has been assassinated.

FROM MADISON.

Editorial Correspondence of the Sentinel.

MADISON, Jan. 22, '57.

It seems rather absurd to be writing letters here day after day, and having them piled away in the post office, for want of means of getting out of town, and therefore, till the embargo is raised to some extent, I don't mean to be guilty of any extensive operations in that line and you must rely upon the telegraph for news. We have had no train from Milwaukee in two days, and when the next one will get along, nobody knows. This winter is altogether the toughest one for railroads operations that we have had, and people who live along the lines stretching east and west between the line of M. & M. R. R. and a hundred miles south of the State boundary have many times wished for the return of the good old stage times, when by dint of feeing the drivers they could make their 8 or 10 miles an hour, sure. Some one suggested yesterday that the Watertown R. R. passing through wood lands, is not obstructed as often as the Milwaukee & Mississippi, passing through the prairies; if so, perhaps some enterprising stage proprietors, by putting on a fast line between here and Watertown, might help us out of our trouble. The experience of this winter will doubtless set the wits of some ingenious men at work to invent some way of protecting railroads from the great loss of revenue which now effects them, from the filling of the cuts with snow. It would doubtless have been a profitable investment for the M. & M. R. R., to have built a close board fence, 10 feet high, wherever their track is below the neighboring surface of the ground, rather than to have suffered what it has for the three past winters, or better, indeed, to have kept half a dozen great snow-ploughs moving over the road since the first snow storm of the season. Something must be done, for "our sufferings is intolerable."

The two Houses have done but little to-day. Both of them spent the morning in attempts to pass joint resolutions to go into Convention for the election of a U. S. Senator, but the minority in each house managed by the various "dilatory pleas" of parliamentary manuvering to drive the majority into postponing the election, or attempt at election, till to-morrow. The more I see of legislative matters, the better am I satisfied that the party in the majority ought so to arrange its rule as effectually to hold the reins over the minority, for my experience in seven sessions here has shown me ten times as many cases of abuse of the majority by the minority, than of minorities by majorities. The majorities ought always, I think, to keep the full power in their hands, and take the responsibility which attaches to its possession. I would always rather trust the magnanimity of a large majority, than the good sense and courtesy of a factious minority.

The General Laws of 1856.

MADISON, Jan. 20.

The general laws enacted during the two sessions of last year have appeared at length, and I have prepared the following very brief abstract of them, hoping that publishing them in all our editions, we may give our readers some idea of their provisions before this Legislature proceeds far in tinkering them. The figures prefixed denote the number of the chapter:

3. Circuit Judges allowed to appoint 2 commissioners in each county in their circuit.
4. Circuit Courts, on application, to make order for the sale or mortgage of the real estate of religious corporations
10. Copies of the "History of Wisconsin" given to the school libraries.
15. Authorizing town boards, and common councils, to extend the time for collecting all taxes except state tax.
26. Regulating the crossing of railroad tracks by trains.
30. Copies of papers in U. S. land offices, certified by the Register, to be evidence in court.
32. Providing for the erection of guide boards on public highways, with penalties for neglect, half the fine to go to the informer.
35. Town treasurers to receive 2 per cent on monies collected before Dec. 25, and five per cent thereafter, with constable's fees on forced sales.
41. Allowing certified copies of deeds &c., to be recorded on affidavit that the original has been lost or destroyed
42. County Superintendents of the poor to give bonds.
48. Amending Chap. 35, R. S, so as to protect the rights of lumbermen.
49. Regulations concerning the State Prison, in detail.
55. Providing that interest only shall be forfeited in cases of usury.
73. Prohibiting, under penalty, the throwing of slabs from sawmills into the Wisconsin river or its tributaries.
74. Appropriating $100 to each county agricultural society, on certain conditions.
75. Personal property of non-resident wards to be handed over to their guardians, on sundry conditions.
76. Booms on the Wisconsin river to be constructed with draws, with penalty for not opening them.
77. No officers except judges to take bail in murder cases; and restrictions in such cases.
81. Clerks of Circuit Courts to be clerks of county courts for certain purposes.
83. In relation to the writ of scire facias.
84. Applications for pardon in cases of murder to have the recommendation of the judge, with the minutes, which the law requires the judge to keep, of the trial; and the warden of the prison must certify to the good conduct of the prisoner.
88. Punishing frauds in using false weights and measures in buying and selling grain, &c.
89. Indian agents authorized to seize and destroy liquor brought on Indian lands for any purpose for sale or to be given or bartered away.
90. All males over 21 years, except persons of color, &c., to pay $1,00 poll tax in each road district.
92. Insanity added to the causes for divorce.
95. Authorizing county judges to perform certain duties in relation to citizens of towns upon U. S. lands.
98. Town officers to be allowed $1,50 per day while acting in the service of the town.
101. A proviso added to sec. 36, chapt. 84 R. S.—validity of sale made under decree, before filing of bill or petition by absent parties, not to be affected.
106. Allowing records of county courts to be perfected in certain cases.
109. Apportionment Law.
110. Amending chap. 74 (above.)
111. Providing for proceedings in suits in Equity.
116. Clerks of Circuit Courts to certify to official qualifications of notaries public.
117. Book and map pedlars to be exempted from taking out licenses.
119. County boards authorized to order printing in foreign languages.
120. The Revised system of Practice, Pleadings, and Proceedings in the Courts of this State.

I find this law, of nearly 200 pages, in the "Session Laws," although the 367th section says that it is not necessary to put it there: 600 copies were ordered printed, to be distributed like the session laws, and the balance to be sold at cost, not more than 5 copies to any person.—The Supreme Court Judges were also to revise their rules last month, in accordance with this new code of procedure.

121. Sundry provisions concerning railroads, for the better security of creditors.
124. Authorizing City and village corporations to regulate Auction sales.
125. Providing for disposal of Swamp Lands.
127. The new code of procedure to take effect March 1st.
129. Penalties against placing obstructions upon railroads.
132. To prevent the spread of "snapdragon" weed.
132. Authorizing town boards to lay taxes for bridges.
143. Allowing Schools, Academies, Colleges, &c, to borrow money from the School and University funds, on certain conditions.

The above are all of the laws passed last year which have a general effect throughout the whole State. I presume that copies have been sent by this time to the proper officers in the several towns.

THE PRAIRIE STATE BANK.—A gentleman connected with financial matters, in the accuracy of whose statements we place entire confidence, writes us under date of the 21st inst, as follows, relative to the Prairie State Bank:

In the recent trouble with the currency in your city, the Prairie State Bank was thrown out under the belief that it was owned and controlled by the Gramercy Bank, Ind. This is not the case. It has not been under that control since the 1st January. This bank has only a small circulation ($8,000,) and is amply secured by deposit of Tennessee and Louisiana stocks ($10,000,) and the bank has always redeemed its notes in gold promptly.—Chicago Democratic Press, Jan. 23.

THE DISCREDITED BANKS.—There is no change to note since yesterday in regard to the reception of notes on the four discredited Illinois banks. Five of our banking houses receive them on deposit, from their regular customers only, at ten per cent discount. The other leading banking houses of the city refuse to take them at all.—Chicago Dem Press, Jan 23.

NEWSPAPERS AND ADVERTISING.—The Philadelphia Bulletin, after making some very timely suggestions on the duties of the current year, comes to the following very sensible conclusion. Its hint is as applicable here as in Philadelphia:

Finally, make a resolve—if you are in any sort of business, that you will push it with all the economy, liberality, spirit and enterprise you can muster—and by way of taking a fresh start and combining the whole four in one vigorous effort, the best thing you can do is, beyond question, to take a newspaper, and send to it a good long advertisement—one of that kind which not only makes it certain that your name will be seen by all the world, but which also proves that you are doing a first rate business, and can afford to make it known. The world loves to patronise those whom it thinks are doing well—and liberal advertising is an unfailing sign of prosperity, as times go. Of all habits, this is, beyond question, one of the very best to form at the beginning of the year, and as such we sincerely commend it to all friends and readers.

THE DEAD COMING TO LIFE.—J. A. Gilligan, the young Englishman whose body was found, a few weeks since, in the North River, and consigned to Potter's Field, and whose daguerreotype was found on the person of the unfortunate young woman who committed suicide by jumping off the Williamsburg ferry boat, might have been seen walking down Nassau street, this morning. He says this is the third time that the coroners 'have set on him.'—N. Y. Mirror

☞ From 2000 to 3000 bushels of wheat are brought to our Depot daily. The price has gone up to 78 cents per bushel. Farmers are getting wiser and begin to think 78 cents in hand better than a bushel of wheat at some imaginary high price.—Fox Lake Journal.

[From Punch.]

BRUTAL ASSAULT.—We regret to hear that Dr. Livingstone, the African explorer, was attacked the other evening in so brutal a manner that he is still suffering from the shock his nervous system has sustained. Taking advantage of the doctor's long disuse of English, a facetious ruffian contrived, before the worthy doctor could find words to stop him, to discharge in his ear this appalling riddle:

Q. What African lake derives its name apparently from an elderly female fowl that has been hanging up a fortnight in the hottest of the dog days?

A. Hen-gamey! (By which it is supposed the Cockney miscreant meant to say Ngami.)

ONE GOOD TURN FOR ANOTHER.—During the War we threatened, but could not get at, St. Petersburg. On the other hand, the Czar, in the proposal of his railroad scheme, has made an abortive attempt on our own capital.

The Snow.

From the Country Gentleman.

I awoke from a soothing soft slumber one morning,
And peeped from my curtain clad chamber at dawning;
With out, lay the earth with a snow on her breast,
While fleecy white flakes slowly fell from the west.

The morning was calm as the face of the ocean
When the waves lie at rest, and the ship has no motion,
Now, the night had been cold and had frozen the rill,
And it slept under snow at the foot of the hill.

As the snow ceased to fall and the clouds cleared away,
The horizon lit up with the dawning of day;
The landscape disclosed a most beautiful scene,
And had changed for the white its own mantle of green.

The silent old forest stood gleaming in white;
The head of the oak grew gray on the sight;
The maple's dark skin became prettily pale,
And the beech stood enrobed in a silvery vail.

Each tree of the forest received the gay suit,
And rejoiced in white from its top to its root;
The willow, alone, as she swayed to and fro,
Refused the gay garb and continued her woe.

The sun, when he rose, was so charmed with the show,
That he would have looked on without melting the snow;
But a gale from the south blew warm through the trees,
And the snow fled away in the breath of the breeze.

GREYSTONE HALL.

(CONCLUDED.)

CHAPTER III.

The Hall was empty for fifteen years this time. Mr. Treylynn's little son and heir did not reach Italy, but died on the route. That was a great grief to Marg'ret.

Roger Raine lost his father and mother, and was very lonely. That, too, was a great grief to Marg'ret.

It was a glad day for Roger, faithful for more than twice seven years, when he received orders for great alterations at the Hall. Mr. Treylynn was coming home. His daughter had been recommended a more bracing climate.

Mr. Treylynn brought to England with him a nephew, his elder sister's son by an Italian husband. This Ugo Leopard was a widower; and his little daughter Viola, and an Italian woman, her governess, accompanied him. Clara Treylynn, a very lovely girl, looked a most fair lily among the dark hued household—a lily among thorns, that might rend and destroy her, Marg'ret considered her to be. Marg'ret, a woman of five and thirty then, watched this fair blossom most jealously, for she had long suspected that Mr. Ugo loved his cousin after his dark fashion, and meant that she should be his little daughter's stepmother. This idea filled Marg'ret with indescribable horror.

The fair Clara herself was too young and gay to be troubled about such matters. If ever Mr. Ugo's eyes and mouth smiled honestly together, it was when he noticed the strong attachment subsisting between his cousin and his child.

And Mr. Treylynn? Was an old and care-worn looking man when he returned to Greystone Hall. He had never shown many signs of affection for his beautiful daughter; but Marg'ret noticed that his eyes often followed her about the room with a restless watchfulness after he returned to Greystone.

The family had come to the Hall in early spring. The Christmas time of the house being inhabited again passed quietly, without anything being heard of the Snow Lady. There was no snow on the ground. Only Marg'ret and Roger, perhaps, thought of and dreaded her appearance. In fifteen years most of the stories about her had been forgotten; many of those who would have remembered them having left the neighborhood.

As time went on, Clara Treylynn had many admirers. Her loveliness, and her sweet winning manners, attracted many who would otherwise have shunned the gloomy master of Greystone Hall, and gay parties of fair ladies and noble gentlemen made the old place bright and cherry.

Miss Treylynn's heart remained whole and free, and Marg'ret began to fear that, in the end, ignorant of love and wifely duty, she would marry her cousin; and she thought too, that Mr. Ugo interpreted this indifference towards others in a way flattering to himself, for he grew exacting, and somewhat insolent, in his manner toward her. When Miss Clara one day appealed to her father, half in jest, half in earnest, against her cousin's tyranny, she was bidden to do what her cousin wished, with a face far too stern for the occasion. This greatly troubled wise and apprehensive Marg'ret. She was very glad when Lady Trevor came home from abroad, and came to stay at the Hall. Lady Trevor had been Mrs. Treylynn's most intimate friend. Her son and two daughters came to Greystone with her. This was early in the second summer of the residence of the family at the Hall.

The gallant bearing and fine, frank face of young Sir Raymond Trevor inclined Margaret to look on him with favor, to hope that her young lady might do the same.

"Well I remember everything happening on that visit of the Trevors," Marg'ret said

I turn to my note-book again.

"One evening, when they'd been here about a week, the weather being very fine and warm, Lady Trevor proposed that tea should be taken on the terrace,—Miss Clara, and Sir Raymond, and the Misses Trevor were delighted at the idea.

"All that day, riding or walking, or sitting, young Sir Raymond had tried in vain to get near Miss Clara. Mr. Ugo's gloomy watching thwarted him at every turn. Now, as soon as ever his mother had made the proposals, he armed himself with two chairs, set them in a snug corner of the terrace, made my young lady take one, sat himself in the other, and looked across at Mr. Ugo with a good natured like kind of triumph. He didn't heed the dark scowl returned to him, but I did. Sitting at work at this window, or going about among them, waiting on my young lady, I saw all that went on, and heard most was said.

"Young Sir Raymond took Viola on his knee, and looked very happy sitting by Miss Clara.—The child asked questions, and he drew the young lady on to talk, too—his own good face looking handsomer and handsomer as they grew more earnest in their talk. They didn't notice when the restless child slipped away. It was a soft, lovely evening; the gardens were full of flowers then, and the scent of them was thrown across the terrace by every puff of wind. I mind that a young man looked at the group, and then sank behind the wood, before anything disturbed the peace. Mr. Ugo could do nought worse than scowl, for Lady Trevor (a stately-sized lady) and the table on which the tea-things stood shut off Miss Clara and Sir Raymond from any one who did not creep under the table, as Viola presently did. Her restless spirit brought her back to them again, and she crouched on the ground between them, and found amusement in clasping and unclasping a bracelet on Miss Clara's pretty white arm. Presently she busily tried to make it encircle Sir Raymond's wrist. It wasn't big enough, and fell down upon the pavement. Sir Raymond picked it up, and tried to replace it on its owner's arm; but his hand somehow trembled as it touched that snowy, soft arm, and little Viola laughed aloud at his awkwardness.

"This was more than Mr. Ugo could bear.—He pushed by Lady Trevor roughly. Stooping to lift up his little girl, he hissed some angry words into my young lady's ear, sent the poor child Viola to bed, crying bitterly, and insisted that it was cold, and the whole party must go indoors. There was no more pleasure for two of the party that evening—not much during the the rest of the time Trevors stayed at Greystone.'

"Well?" I said impatiently, when Marg'ret paused; "of course the young people had fallen deeply in love; of course somebody made them miserable; and of course—but pray go on in your own way."

"My young lady didn't seem the same after this. She often cried and often sat for hours doing nothing. She didn't care to play with Viola, and she avoided her cousin as much as possible. Lady Trevor, coming to call, frightened my master into consenting that she should go to stay a little while at Trevor Court, by telling him she thought her looking very ill. Sir Raymond was absent on a visit; still Miss Clara brightened at the thought of this change, and it happened that young Sir Raymond came home the day after our coming to Trevor Court. I liked him better than ever; he had such cheery ways, and such a good heart. So did my mistress."

My impatient "Well!" again broke in upon Marg'rets meditations.

"In the midst of our happiness and gaiety" (Roger was not there, but Margret identified herself with her young mistress,) "we were called home. It was an unexpected command, but we should not have dared disobey. Sir Raymond looked fierce and angry when he saw how Miss Clara trembled at the idea of prolonging her visit one day—she thought her father was angry already, by the way he wrote. Merry Miss Edda Trevor did her best to cheer up the saddened party, by proposing that they should all ride home with my young lady. They might start then, in the cool of the September morning (it was a hot September, I mind), and return in the evening. So it was settled. Miss Clara and Sir Raymond stood ready in the portico, waiting for the young ladies, when our Hall carriage drove up, and Mr Ugo jumped out.

"Poor Miss Clara was frightened at the hot words that passed between the two—Mr. Ugo insisting that the ride was too long for his cousin, and that she must return with him in the carriage. He used her father's name, and she felt obliged to obey, and then young Sir Raymond turned away, for the moment angry with her even, but that didn't last. When he bade her good by, he said something that brought a bright color into the child's fair face, and made it wear a happy look in the homeward ride. I was in the carriage with my mistress. Mr. Ugo was quiet and sullen, and only looked at her a great deal. Once she put her hand over her mouth suddenly, to hide a happy smile from him.

"Mr. Treylynn was out when we arrived at the Hall. Miss Clara shut herself up in her room."

"Next day, I suppose the young lover made his appearance?"

"Next day I sat here at work, thinking about my own future and my mistress. That door you see there was open; it leads into the small drawing room. Presently I heard Mr. Ugo and Miss Clara talking. I couldn't help hearing a little what had passed. Mr. Ugo was speaking angrily, and I heard Sir Raymond's name. My young lady answered very gently at first; but her cousin's insolent manner, which set me in a tremble of indignation, roused her spirit. She denied his right, dared and defied him, and said she would appeal to her father. She came through my room, and flew up to the master's.

"While I sat trembling with fear, I didn't know of what, a loud shriek from Viola startled me, and the child came and threw herself into my lap. When she was calmer, I learned that she had met her father in the hall, sprung upon him with some childish caress, and he had called her a harsh name, and struck her. The blow wasn't much, and the child's heart seemed bursting with passion. Before I could quiet her, her governess came in and snatched her away.—That woman was always spying upon me and Miss Clara.

"After awhile I went to look for my young lady. I found her in her room, thrown on the floor by the window, her head laid upon the cushion. She didn't stir when I went in; she wasn't sobbing, and I didn't like her quite. After hovering about a bit, I spoke to her. She lifted her white face, and said, quite low, 'I hate him, Marg'ret; I will drown in the Black Pool before I marry him!' She startled me by her likeness to her mother as she spoke, looking at me with stony and tearless eyes. I tried to soften her by degrees, and get her to talk to me. I spoke of her mother. It was long 'fore she paid any heed. Then she looked up to heaven, clasped her hands, and cried, 'Mother! mother! help me, mother!' Floods of passionate tears came after that cry. My heart felt as if it would break with sorrow for the poor lamb!

"I do not know why I should make you go over all this," I said, when Marg'ret paused to wipe her eyes. I was moved from my relentless resolve to hear a story.

"It wasn't all sorrow I felt when my young lady by and by turned to me, crying, 'Marg'ret! Marg'ret!' as she had before cried 'Mother!' telling me I was the only friend she could look to in the wide world for counsel and comfort now. She told me what had passed between her and her father. He had not been unkind, had even seemed to pity her; but had told her that she must marry her cousin, and soon. At the recollection of his looks and manner, she seemed to go into a frenzy of wild despair. I was fairly frightened for her reason. It was hours and hours before she grew at all calmer. Then she fell into a feverish sleep, which lasted late on in the afternoon.

"When they were expecting her to dinner, I went down and said that my mistress was very ill, and that I was very uneasy about her, as I thought she would have a fever. Mr. Treylynn got up quick; but the Italian governess said that it was nothing, she knew—only the heat of the afternoon. She had a slight fever herself; Miss Treylynn was sleeping, and would wake up refreshed.

"I returned to my watching, determined to make the most of Miss Clara's illness to frighten her father; but there was no need. That night the whole household was startled by her delirious cries. Her father and Mr. Ugo both rode off for physicians—one in one direction, the other in another. * * * For days we looked for her health.

"It was late autumn ere my young lady could walk on this terrace, leaning on my arm, again. The weather was very fair and mild though."

"But hadn't anything come of her illness—no alteration for the better in her position?"

"None. Once, as her father watched her asleep after a fever fit, I looked across her, straight into his face, and said, 'My young lady looks as her mother looked just before she died.' It was a cruel speech; but I had no compassion then, save for her. But when he muttered, "O my God, another, and turned and went away feebly, my heart reproached me. A little after I went into his room hastily; the doctor wanted to speak to him. I found him pleading to his nephew, as if for life. Mr. Ugo looked darker, crueller than ever. From that time I pitied proud Mr. Treylynn."

"And did Miss Treylynn quite recover?"

"No; she continued as white as a lily. She could just creep about, and that was all. She was only dying a slower death than if she had died in the fever."

"And Sir Raymond?"

"He had ridden over every day while she was ill. I or Roger always managed to see him.—When she was well enough to be down, she made me entreat her not to try and see her; and he didn't come again till one day when it happened that Mr. Treylynn and Mr. Ugo were away. They had started at daybreak, and the night before Mr. Treylynn had given his daughter a fervent kiss, that made the blood rush into her pale face from surprise. That was a very lovely day, and Miss Clara seemed a little more able to enjoy the sunshine as she walked on the terrace. The Italian governess had settled herself in a window overlooking it, and I knew she watched every step we took.

Presently a horse clattered into the court.—My mistress tottered, and sat down, turning from white to red in a moment, as Sir Raymond came out to where we were. The governess joined us almost immediately. Miss Clara had risen, and Sir Raymond drew her hand through his arm, and asked her could she walk a little way into the wood with him. She hesitated; but he said earnestly that he must speak to her alone. The governess made a thousand objections; but Sir Raymond said, wonderfully haughty for him, that Miss Treylynn was her own mistress. It ended in their going, Miss Clara bidding me follow with a shawl, that I had asked Sir Raymond to take for her.

"I took care not to interrupt them, poor things! and wandered about in the wood a good way off; but after awhile I came upon them unexpectedly, resting in a little glade where some felled trees were lying. Sir Raymond's arm was around Miss Clara, and she was nestled down close to him, weeping on his breast. Turning back quickly before they had seen me, I confronted the Italian governess. She smiled maliciously, and glided away. Mr. Ugo heard all when he came home next day, I know he did, by the dreadful look in his eyes."

The ghost seeing look came into Marg'ret's eyes. How rapidly twilight was closing in this afternoon! But I must hear the end of Marg'ret's story now, even if I had to endure the terrors of a dark walk home in consequence.

"I'll be as short as I can, for your sake and my own," Marg'ret said. "After that day winter set in fiercely. The wind moaned and wailed around the Hall as I had never heard it before: at night 'twas fearful to hear. The sky looked heavy with snow that delayed to fall.—At this time Mr. Treylynn seemed mutually to hate and suspect each other, and the Italian woman watched them both. Young Sir Raymond kept away; but it was my young lady's entreaties, not the weather, that detained him. And my dear mistress didn't look unhappy. I suppose that the talk with Sir Raymond has cased her; and, too, there was a change in her father's manner that gave us both hope. Sometimes it was quite tender to her; but he looked more melancholy than ever. The snow——"

Just then a gust of storm-wind shrieked past the window. Marg'ret paused, and we both looked out.

"You must go now, before it gets darker," she said, "for there'll be a fall of snow before long. If it comes on thick, right in your teeth, you'll find it difficult to make your way across the moor."

"But, Marg'ret this is only the middle of October."

"We often have snow as early as this in these parts."

I saw it was no use to plead—Marg'ret looked resolute. She dismissed me with many cautions, I fought my way home in safety. A blinding sleet set in, but not till I was near my cottage.—As my landlady brought in my tea that evening, she entertained me with anecdotes of people having been lost crossing the moors on such an evening as this. When I looked out at midnight, the whole country was whitened. The moon was struggling laboriously across the sky, casting gleams upon the earth at intervals. That night I had strange dreams; the Black-Pool and the Snow-Lady figured largely therein.

CHAPTER VI.

It was some time before I was able to get to Greystone Hall again. When I did go, it was a farewell visit, that I paid it; for Winter drove, and Winter's work called me away from that quiet retreat. I have strong presentiments that I have paid a final farewell to those scenes.—Should these prove correct, upon application to my—friends. I was about to write, but they would be hard to find—man of business I will say, the name and address of that moorland cottage may be ascertained.

It was on a melancholy day that I crossed those moors last—a quiet day, on which the sun did not shine or the wind blow, yet on which something sobbed about fitfully—now a-far, now a-near. The country was still robed with snow.

Marg'ret received me kindly, and settled me by the fireside. She was very sorry I was leaving, should miss my visits, and trusted to see me again next year, better and brighter. "We don't live to grieve, you know," she added.

"Not even though we grieve to live—feel the 'burden of being' press more heavily upon us day by day. But the end of the story, Marg'ret."

"Aye, the end of the story!" A meditative pause; then she began: "Mr. Treylynn had been looking so ill and sad, and Miss Clara was still so delicate, that we were all taken back to hear that the house was to be so full of company at Christmas time. It sounded like an ill omen, when an old woman, who came to help, meeting the master on the stairs, remarked to him, with a courtesy, that the grand doings minded her of his cousin's time, and the gathering on the Christmas that he brought his beautiful bride home—'Save, so hap, there's no bride now—no bride, 'less one makes 'count of the Snow-Lady. The Snow-Lady 'll be at work this Christmas Eve, for sure!'

"How did Mr. Treylynn receive that?"

"I was by, and couldn't understand his face.—He looked sharp at the woman, who was only witted; asked her name; seemed relieved when he heard it, as if he had feared another; then muttered, 'No matter—no matter any way!' or something like that, and went on saying, 'Forty years! forty years!' He was in the habit now of talking to himself—he was getting old."

Marg'ret talked slowly and dreamily to-day—and seemed to linger by the way.

"Christmas Eve came," she proceeded. "The snow was deep; but all day long carriages came rolling over it toward the Hall. Mr. Treylynn had made a particular request to Lady Trevor that she would come early, and assist his daughter to receive her guests. The lady was quite puzzled, but she came. When I went to dress my mistress for the evening, I found Lady Trevor sitting by her dressing-room fire, Miss Clara at her feet, her pretty head resting on her lap.—Lady Trevor kissed my young lady and went away, giving me a hearty shake by the hand first.

"Spite of her pale cheeks, my mistress looked lovelier than any lady of them all—only" (and Marg'ret glanced curiously at me) "too much like that white bride of forty years ago.

"When the mirth and music were loudest in the drawing rooms and in the servants' hall little Viola dashed into the midst of us, trembling with cold and eagerness, her great eyes shining with excitement—some one must go and fetch in a beautiful lady she had seen out in the snow—some one must go. I suppose I turned pale, for Roger scolded the child for telling stories. Her governess took her in charge, and we all agreed that it was a childish fancy—that she had been told of the Snow-Lady, and so thought she saw her. But my heart turned sick, I could not bear the noise and bustle, and stole away, Roger following me. We stood in a dusky corner of the entrance hall, out of reach of the flashing firelight, and watched to get a glimpse of our young lady. Before very long she and Sir Raymond came out of the great room where the dancing was, he putting her shawl round her careful and tender. They stopped by a window near me, before they crossed into the music room and there talked together softly.

"But Mr. Ugo soon followed them. He wished his cousin to dance the next dance with him he said, and he took her hand. Sir Raymond held the other more firmly with his arm, and answered, gently that Miss Treylynn was engaged to him for this dance. Mr. Ugo lost his temper, and made some insolent speech. Still holding her hand, he commanded her to come with him. He grasped her wrist as well as her little hand: she gave a cry of pain, for the sharp edges of a bracelet she wore, were pressed into her arm.—Bitter cause had we for rueing that cry!

"It wasn't natural but that Sir Raymond should be angered, and angered he was; he struck back Mr. Ugo's arm fiercely, drew my trembling young mistress closer, and said, she should not go; he would not trust her with one who was no gentleman.

"If ever a man looked like a fiend, it was the Italian, as he stepped toward the two lovers. I rushed between them, frightened, and then Mr. Ugo said some words in Sir Raymond's ear, and went back to the dancing room. I caught my young lady in my arms, as she went off in a dead faint; she was still weak from her illness, poor dear! it was the fright and not the pain of her bleeding arm. Sir Raymond brought her into this room; then I made him go away, and did all I could to bring her to herself. I heard the master outside asking for his daughter, and I opened the door, and called him in.

"I was sorry I had done it, when I saw how the shock of seeing her lying there, still and death-like in her white dress, seemed to numb all his senses with terror. I told him what was the matter, and what had passed, but didn't say aught about Mr. Ugo's whisper to Sir Raymond; for, though I had caught a few words, I hadn't time to think about them, hardly knew I had heard them, so anxious was I about my mistress.

"I was terribly reminded of his way when he found his wife dead, when Mr. Treylynn knelt beside his daughter, kissed her passionately on cheek, brow and lip, and talked strangely to himself. This little room of mine was dimly lighted, and the window wasn't curtained—presently the master looked up from his daughter, and fixed his eyes wildly on the window; my eyes followed his. I couldn't help a startled cry to God—it was so like to my senseless young lady. He turned his eyes back to his child; she stirred, and moaned, and I chafed her hands and feet; when I looked up again the white face was gone!"

Marg'ret paused, and I cast an eerie glance behind me toward that window; seeing it she smiled, very sadly, and went on.

"Miss Clara opened her eyes, and looked up into her father's—her pretty eyes were dim and dreamy, and she turned her head a little round, as if she would go to sleep again. Poor lamb! she thought she must be dreaming; but when the master bent down and kissed her, she threw her arms around his neck, as she hadn't done before in her life, mayhap. He raised her, so that she could lay her head on his shoulder, and they stayed so without speaking. There came a waft of distant music; it was the Christmas waits—the sound came soft and muffled over the snow. I believe the old man and his fair child both thought it heavenly music. Miss Clara nestled closer to her father, and he looked upward with a strange smile in his face. When it had finished the color had come back to my mistress's face; she was quite well again she said. The master gently moved her arms, and rose to go away. He stopped at the door and turned; her eyes had followed him, his wandered to the window, then came back to her face—the strange smile came back to his mouth as he said, "All shall be well for you, my child! Be content; all shall be well!' Then, as he passed me, I heard him mutter, 'Yes!' and the white wife, the pale bride shall be avenged!'

"I bandaged my mistress's arm and put on her a fresh pair of long white gloves; she was anxious to get back to the company again, she knew one would be watching. Sir Raymond was without—I thought no harm in letting him take her to the dancing room after the master's words, but I followed, and stayed by her all the evening, till——"

An ashen pallor blanched Marg'ret's lips—true Marg'ret! after all these years! involuntarily I shuddered. I rose, went to that window, and looked toward the Black Pool, till her voice recalled me.

"My young lady sat quiet, but her dark and bright lover hovered around her and many others. Presently, the Misses Trevor and some other young ladies came up; they stood talking to Miss Clara, and shut out my view of the room. They moved off, one by one, when the dance began, and, looking all about, I could see neither Sir Raymond nor Mr. Ugo. The clock struck twelve, and I remembered then that Mr. Ugo had said something about the 'Black Pool,' and 'midnight,' when he spoke to Sir Raymond, with that hellish look of his face. Deadly fear went through me!

"Telling Miss Clara I would soon be back, I went away. Roger was still in the hall. I told him to get a lantern and come after me; he didn't understand my hurry and flight, but he came. I ran over the Christmas snow fast as my legs would carry me, he following. When I turned down the Black Walk, he cried after me, 'Not there,' but I didn't heed. I saw a light by the pool, and sped on, in agony lest we should be too late!"

"Marg'ret, it pains you."

"No matter, I shall soon have finished my own. As I came near the pool, that light disappeared. I heard a heavy splash—some one rushed by, and the gleam of Roger's lantern fell on a dark fiend's face. O Roger! Roger! I never thought of him, only of my young mistress waiting and watching for one she might never see again?

"I cried to Roger to save Sir Raymond. No one need to have done that; he had plunged into the black water before the words were out of my mouth. The deadly cold waters of that pool never froze! I threw myself down at the edge and held the lantern as far out as I could reach over it. Roger got hold of Sir Raymond, and struggled with him to the side where I lay. I seized hold of his clothes; soon he lay safe on the ground.

"I turned to help Roger; once he almost touched my outstretched hands, but the cold had seized him, he sank——"

"But he was saved? You called help and he was saved?"

"I called help! aye, I think I shrieked as wild and loud as the Snow Lady. Very soon there was a gleam of torches and lanterns round the pool; but nobody would jump in. They held me and I thought I should go mad. Happy was the pale bride on that Christmas Eve, long ago!—She and her husband were wedded for eternity by the waters of that pool—but Roger!——

"There was a pause in the senseless confusion by the pool when Mr. Treylynn came down the Black Walk. It was not one but all who declared that the Snow-Lady followed him, throwing up her arms, as if in triumph. One glance at Sir Raymond, one at me, and Mr. Treylynn seemed to understand it all. He ordered Sir Raymond to be carried to the house, then he jumped in to try and save Roger. He was an old man; the waters of the pool were very cold; he was drowned, and Roger was not saved."

I grasped Marg'ret's hand, and looked wonderingly into her clear eyes; she was quite calm now. It was I who would have cried, "Roger! Roger!" and "Marg'ret! Marg'ret!"

O, the wild confusion among the Christmas guests in this old hall that night! I knew nothing then, thanks be to God! The servants fled away from the place, and the guests remained cowering over the fires till morning; then they went too.

"Sir Raymond recovered, and Lady Trevor took my mistress and myself home to Trevor Court. My poor mistress! It was a blessed thing for me that I roused up from my stupor to take care of her. She wailed her father night and day—she felt it all the worse that she had not always loved him—she thought of him only as the fond old man of that dreadful night. We feared her heart would break! It was long before she would even see Raymond—he went away from home that he mightn't trouble her.

"You have more to tell, good Marg'ret?"

She had fallen into a reverie, looking out with such a strange expression, that my eyes followed hers to the window, expecting to see—what?"

"There is but little more to tell," she said, bringing her eyes slowly back to my face. "The pool was dragged—my Roger's body was found, thank God! he was laid in the churchyard hard by. The sun shines and the daisies grow upon his grave, and the people pass it by as they go to church. The master was never found."

"More about him and that Ugo came to be known."

"Yes, all the world knew it, or the story shouldn't pass my lips—she alive still and a happy wife and mother!

"Mr. Treylynn left papers, from which it was found that his nephew had power over him, because he had come to know of a crime he had committed in his youth. The traitor had learned the whole story when he had nursed the master in a fever. After long years of misery and remorse, Mr. Treylynn had, at last, determined to give himself up to justice, and leave his estate to his daughter and Sir Raymond—Mr. Ugo having thought to get both his daughter and his property.

"Neither Ugo nor the governess were seen again after that night. But, in the newspapers, we saw, some years ago now, that a Ugo Leopardi had been killed in a street quarrel in Venice.

"Little Viola, lived with Miss Clara (Lady Trevor rather) till she married;—her father never wrote or sent to her."

"And how is it good Marg'ret, that you live alone here?"

"I often go and visit my lady, but I get heart-sick if I'm long away from this place, so home I come again. I'm not let want for anything, and when I am old and helpless, I suppose I'll need to live at Trevor Court, for nobody would live with me here; but it will be with a sore sad heart that I bid good bye to Greystone Hall."

"I'll make no comment on that faithful woman's story. I have have had quaint letters from her, now and then, which I treasure. Whatever of the supernatural there is in this story Marg'ret firmly believed; of that I am convinced.

As I walked home through that wierd evening's twilight down the ghostly avenue, and lonely road across the wild moors, I thought more of a faithful woman than that of the white wife, the Snow-Lady.

Chicago Market.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20

We have had very cold weather in this locality for the last few days. Hence, business has been less vigorous, though it exhibited no remarkable changes. Provisions and breadstuffs are firm at yesterday's prices, and teas and some grades of sugars are slightly higher.

Hog products generally have improved; we saw very small dressed hogs sell at $7,75 ℔ 100 lbs this evening, and they range from this to $8,25, at which a lot averaging 235 lbs sold to-day; while very choice and heavy lots would as on yesterday bring $8,50. All the lard that is likely to be received would bring 11½ cts ℔ lb.

WHEAT—Receipts for past few days extremely light, and prices one cent better to-day; 94c was paid per bus for two cars spring to mill, and $1,25 for prime white

CORN—No receipts worth mentioning and no sales.

OATS—Better; 35c offered to store and sales at 36a37c to city trade.

Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 18, 1853.

Dr. C. M. Jackson—Dear Sir—I have used your Hoofland German Bitters in my family for the past four years, for Liver diseases and Dyspepsia, and am pleased to acknowledge that we have received the greatest benefit from its use. I have recommended it to a great many afflicted with similar diseases, with the same good result.

I have no hesitation in saying that it was an invaluable medicine, and hope you will be able to introduce it into every family in the Union. Yours, Truly,

CASE & SANBORN, GENERAL REAL ESTATE AGENTS,

Fox Lake, Dodge County, Wisconsin.

TO THOSE desirous of locating in a place where business will increase and become permanently profitable,

FOX LAKE

Presents unusual inducements. It is so situated as to command, permanently and exclusively, the trade of the largest and best agricultural district Wisconsin affords, and agriculture being the great basis of business in the west, it follows that this must be one the largest inland towns in the State. The superior improvements, educational advantages, &c., show conclusively that it is in a prosperous condition, and serve also as a guarantee for the future.

We offer the following

FARMS FOR SALE.

The celebrated Schamburgh Place, on Lake Emily, 6 miles north of Fox Lake, 600 acres first-rate soil, over half improved prairie, balance heavy timber, with an excellent Lime Stone Quarry. Price $25 per acre, one-third down, balance in 5 years, 7 per ct.

80 acres choice prairie, over half improved, 1½ miles west of Fox Lake, $2,800, $500 down, balance in 3 years.

40 acres, 4 miles east, all improved, $1,000, half down.

160 acres prairie, with a timber lot, nearly half improved, frame house, well, &c., 2 miles from Fox Lake.—This is a good farm, and will be sold low.

80 acres prairie and openings, all available, within ten minutes walk of the Fox Lake College, would make a pleasant country residence, and will be sold below anything in market.

We have also for sale, at low prices, a large number of lots, and some pleasant houses and lots, located in different parts of Fox Lake. eotdy

POLICE COURT, JANUARY 23.

BEFORE CLINTON WALWORTH, POLICE JUSTICE.

John Pettis, drunkenness; fined $1,00.

CONVICTS FOR WAUPUN.—Yesterday Deputy Sheriff and Jailer Wasson, accompanied by Policeman Rice took five convicts to Waupun, convicted and sentenced at the present term of the Circuit Court, as follows:

Edward Dawson, murder in the first degree, for life.

John Shultz, robbery with violence from person, 3 years.

Joseph Le Page, robbery in a Church, 2 years and 11 months.

William McGlathery, larceny from vessel, 2 years.

Francis Flannegan, larceny in dwelling, 1 year and 6 months.

These make nineteen in all, sent to Waupun from the present term of the Circuit Court, but one convict remaining who has not received his sentence, awaiting motion for a new trial.

We believe Milwaukee County sends about half of the whole number of convicts sent to Waupun.

The Murder in Waukesha Co.

An inquest was held upon the body of Craft on Thursday. Sheriff Castle has arrested two others on suspicion. We withhold their names at present. An examination will take place before Justice Cook, of Waukesha. Stevens, who was arrested in this city, was taken to Waukesha Jail. Considerable excitement prevailed, and threats of lynching were made, but that species of excitement soon died away, and we hope the accused will all have a fair trial.

Craft, a short time before he died, made some incoherent statements—one that he had been robbed. His skull was terribly fractured, twelve pieces of the bone having been extracted. He leaves a wife and 3 children. He had but a short time since sold his farm, and was on his way home, when he was felled to the ground and robbed, evidently having been beaten after he was on the ground.

When found, he was lying face downwards. Half the club, which was broken apparently by the force of the blows, was found near the spot—the other part has not yet been discovered.

EXPENSIVE HOLE.—A verdict of $2,650, in the Supreme Court, has just been obtained against the Mayor, &c., of New York, in favor of Laughlin Lawler, plaintiff, for injuries received by him while "driving slowly along South Street, on his way to market. His horse stumbled into a large hole filled with water. The shock pitched Mr. Lawler out of his wagon with such violence as to break his ribs and injure his spine, confining him to his bed for six weeks, and compelling him to abandon his business."

The jury were unanimous in favor of a verdict for the plaintiff, some urging a much larger one than was finally rendered. Cities and towns should be careful how they have holes and man-traps in the public highways. It is often very expensive.

THE BUSHNELL STOVE.—MR. GOODRICH has manufactured and put up in this city during the past few months, several coal-burning stoves called "Bushnell Stoves." In point of economy in the consumption of fuel, in their elegance as a parlor ornament, and their retaining fire day and night and exhibiting a greater surface, radiating more heat, we consider them superior to any other stove now in use. We have seen several in operation, and recommend them from actual knowledge of their good properties. Mr. Goodrich advertises to make and put them up at the shortest notice. His place of business is near the People's Bank, East Water St.

LECTURE LAST NIGHT.—Young's Hall was not over crowded last evening—probably owing to the fact that our good folks were slowly recuperating themselves from their grand entertainment at No. One's Ball, and the night being so bitter cold that few cared to leave a warm fire for any lecture.

Although Mr. RICHMOND did not arrive, his place was well filled by ELIHU BURRITT, the "Learned Blacksmith," who entertained the audience for an hour upon "a plan of Brotherly Copartnership between the North and the South," or "Compensated Emancipation."

ACADEMY FOR YOUNG LADIES.—It will be seen by a card in our advertising columns this morning that the next Semi-Annual term of this Institution commences on the 2d day of February. This Academy has now a very good reputation, and the references given in the card are sufficient to show its reliability. Besides English branches, the German and French languages, Drawing, Embroidery, &c., are also taught there.

EXTREME COLD.—The intensity of the cold continues. Yesterday, as the day before, the weather was Siberian. But the mercury is not quite so far gone here, as some other points in our State. On Sunday morning last, it sank, at Fond du Lac to 34 degrees below zero and Kilbourn City, to 35 below. So say the Fond du Lac Union and Wisconsin Mirror.

KING LEAR TO-NIGHT.—Mrs. FANNY KEMBLE reads "King Lear" at Young's Hall this evening. No lover of Shakespeare should omit the opportunity of hearing FANNY KEMBLE. She does ample justice to the productions of the great dramatist, and when we say that, we say all. Go and hear to night.

REV. JAMES C. RICHMOND.—We have been shown a letter from Mr. Richmond to one of the Committee of the Y. M. C. A., in which he states that he will be in Milwaukee this evening, and will fill an appointment to preach at St. Paul's to-morrow morning and evening.

REMOVAL.—Messrs. FORD & FAIRBANKS have removed their Bookstore to No. 158 East Water Street, in the U. S. Block, where they will be happy to see their friends and the public. Their stock of Books and Stationery is most complete.

☞ The attention of every one is called to the several advertisements of Caleb Wall. It will pay to read them all over and make a note of them.

SALOM'S
MERCANTILE COLLEGE!

A Perpetual Ticket for $25!

GENTLEMEN desirous of acquiring a thorough Mercantile Education, are assured that the advantages presented at this institution are unsurpassed.

The Principal takes this opportunity to acknowledge the courtesy of several of the most distinguished Shipping and Jobbing Houses in the East, who recently allowed him to examine their books, besides explaining many original plans for economizing labor, which, adopted as in some instances after the experience of half a century, may be justly designated the ne plus ultra of the art.

These advantages, grafted upon Mr. SALOM'S long practical experience in a variety of Counting Houses, have enabled him to elaborate a novel and valuable series of transactions, introducing all the great heads and ramifications of mercantile routine to be actually developed by the student. A perpetual ticket confers the privilege of instruction in Book-Keeping at all times, as well as tuition in Writing, Mercantile Calculations, Law, Correspondence Forms, &c.

The Surveying and Mathematical department is in progress during the day and evening.

PINNEY YOUNGS' PATENT SAWING MACHINES.

PATENTED JANUARY 30, 1855.—REISSUED OCT. 2, 1855.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY, That we purchased the first Siding Mill built by Pinney Youngs, of Milwaukee, and that we have run the same Machine at our Mills at Bay de Noque, (Mich.) the past two years, and that it has exceeded our expectations. We have no hesitation in saying that it will cut Two Thousand Feet, supeficial measure, per hour, and upon a trial of twelve hours we cut 32,184 feet, superficial measure, of Flooring and Siding

N. LUDINGTON & CO.

Milwaukee, Sept. 18th, 1856.

This is to Certify, That we have used one of Pinney Youngs' Patent Sawing Machines, or Siding Mills, for about one year, and find it the most perfect Machine we have ever seen. It is easily kept in order. We have expended but a shillings for repairs on it as yet.

We have never seen any Machine of the kind that will in any way compare with this. It will cut nearly or quite double the amount of Lumber in the same time of any other mill we have ever examined.

The man that runs it has offered to bet one thousand dollars he could saw in this Siding Mill Fifty Thousand Feet of Lumber within twenty-four hours—The Lumber sawed in this mill is of universally even thickness, which is not the case with any other we have seen.

We really would not exchange our Machine for any other ten machines of any other Patent we ever saw, for our own use.

Algoma, August 30th, 1856. BRAND & CO.

MESSRS. PINNEY YOUNGS & CO.: CHICAGO, August 16th, 1856

Gents—We have in use, in our mill at Pensaukie, Green Bay, two of your Siding Machines, and find them to answer our expectations in all respects. We refer them to any we have ever used, or of which we have any knowledge. From the report of our Superintendent, we learn that one of your Machines cut during the week ending July 12th, 155,558 feet of Lumber—mostly fencing and flooring—being about 26,000 feet every twenty-four hours. For rapidity and smoothness of sawing, as well as durability of construction, we think it cannot be equalled by any other Machine now in use.

Yours, truly, F. B. GARDINER & CO

LATER FROM EUROPE!

ARRIVAL OF THE

ATLANTIC!

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.

The steamship Atlantic arrived this P. M. with Liverpool dates to the 7th inst.

Lord Napier is appointed Minister to Washington. He is a practiced diplomatist, having served in Austria, Persia, Russia, Naples and Turkey.

The Arch-Bishop of Paris, while officiating in the Church of St. Stephen, Paris, was stabbed to the heart by a discharged priest named Verges. The Arch-Bishop instantly expired.

In the conference of Paris the proceedings remain obscure. The Pays says the conference met on the 3d. The Moniteur is silent upon the subject. The delay is attributed by some to the necessary time to prepare the protocols, and by others to a new disagreement of detail, not of principle, respecting the compensation to be paid to Russia. No apprehension is felt of any other than a pacific result.

The Swiss difficulty remains as before, but expectations of a peaceful settlement increased.

A favorable augury is drawn from the apparently cordial reception given by Napoleon to the Swiss army.

The London Gazette publishes official accounts of the hostile operations against China, inferring previous details.

The following is from James McHenry & Co.'s circular:

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 6th.

Breadstuffs—The quotations of wheat are reduced 2da3d per 70lbs; there is not much doing at the decline. Flour is fully supported. Indian Corn rather dear. Wheat, white and mixed 9¼a10.—Flour; western canal 31a33, Ohio 34a35, St. Louis 35a37. Corn; yellow 34a34 6d, mixed 34a34 6d, white 35 6da36 6d.

Provisions—The reduced estimates of the supply of bacon secured this week have strengthened the views of holders without increasing business. At auction to day, which was well attended, 40 boxes McAllister's long middles were sold at 54s 6d, and about 30 boxes Flanagan rice, Lynn & Mitchell, brought 53s6d, about a half of each brand being withdrawn for want of bidders. In hams and shoulders there have been no transactions. Beef and Pork meet more enquiry; a parcel of the former has been re-shipped to New York. There has been several sales at auction of Lard to-day at 66s; was accepted being of a fair quality and showing a serious decline.

Consols for money 94¼.

The Atlantic arrived at 6 o'clock. She left Liverpool at 4 o'clock P. M.

The Africa arrived Sunday, Jan. 4th.

The London Times objects to the appointment of Lord Napier, on the ground that, though well fitted by his diplomatic experience to represent his country in the east, or in any of the despotic and military countries of continental Europe, he is not the right man for the mission to Washington.

The Archbishop of Paris was performing religious services in the church when he was assassinated. The assassin stepped forward, lifted his corpse and plunged a knife to his heart, exclaiming "down with the goddess," an expression which he afterwards explained to refer to the doctrine of the Immaculate Conception. The bishop fell to the pavement and instantly expired. A Sister of Charity who had observed the movements of the assassin and attempted to throw herself between him and the bishop, was wounded in the hand. Verges was formerly a priest of the diocese of Meaux and had been suspended for preaching against the dogma of the Immaculate Conception. He was in the insurrection of June. The crime created a deep sensation at the Tuilleries and in all classes the same consternation was apparent.

A secret conclave was held at Rome Dec. 15th, in which the State of the Roman Church, in Mexico and South America, were considered. The Pope complains bitterly at the doings of the Mexican government in Mexico, and declares that all the measures which it has taken against the authority of the Apostolic Chair to be null and void. He also denounces those Priests who obey the laws of countries in which they live, rather than the instructions forwarded them from Rome.

The Swiss government has declared its willingness to stop all proceedings against the insurgents, if France and England will promise their efforts to procure the completed independence of Neufchatel and withdraw their adhesion to the protocal of 1852 in favor of the King of Prussia. If they do not obtain from that monarch the abandonment of his pretensions to the Canton, and if an arrangement cannot be effected in this or an analagous basis, all the Swiss will rise to defend their rights and independence.

The greatest enthusiasm prevails everywhere; It is estimated that should war ensue, four hundred thousand men will be under arms. The cantonment of Geneva being want of eight hundred thousand frances for arms, that sum was subscribed at the town Hall in twenty four hours.

Washington, Jan. 23.

The Senate passed the bill to compel witnesses to testify, &c., three only voting against it. The debate was animated and long continued, the friends of the measure pressed its necessity in order to preserve the honor of members from grave charges, the present laws being insufficient to punish a witness for contempt. The minority maintained that the bill was a flagrant violation of the constitutional rights of American citizens. During the general debate Mr. Hall said that if Congress should make the issue with a newspaper Reporter who is in custody, or even with a street scavanger, he would beat Congress upon it before the country, and would have the public sympathies whether he was right or not. Mr. Toombs said, the principle among thieves was now brought forward to prevent the administration of public justice, he thought it proper that the house should protect its members from the licentiousness of the press and its miserable minions who are allowed to go about these halls.

THREE P. M. REPORT.

Congressional.

Washington Jan. 22.

Elizur Wakely, of Wisconsin, is confirmed for Judge in Nebraska, and Mr. Blythe of Mississippi, for Consul at Havana. The correspondence between Gen. Scott and Secretary Davis, goes to the Senate to-morrow. It makes a volume, and is intensely personal and bitter. Neither Office have agreed upon any measure, respecting the ocean mail service.

Mr. Barclay, in the House, is preparing a report favorable to the Collins Line. He has yet to obtain the sanction of his colleagues. Mr. Collins is still here arguing the transfer of the ships to the Government as fulfilling the spirit of the original contracts. The Senate this morning is discussing the House Witness Compelling Bill. The House is engaged on the Private Calender.

New York, Jan. 23.

Matilda Heron the western actress, made a triumphant debut at Wallack's theatre last evening in Camille. The critics this morning pronounce her performance the most marvellous and perfect acting ever seen in New York, not excepting Rachel. The house was crowded by a fashionable and critical audience which at the close of the last act rose in tumultous applause and called for the debutante.

Cold Weather.

New York, Jan. 22.

Despatches from all points East, North and West, chronicle an unexpected cold. The thermometer varying from zero to 30° below. A despatch from Boston says that at 7 o'clock a registered thermometer at the Cambridge Observatory, indicated 16° below.

INSTRUCTION.

ENGLISH AND MERCANTILE ACADEMY,

No. 46 Wisconsin Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

THE PRINCIPAL RESPECTFULLY informs the Public that the Winter Term of his School commences Monday, December 8th, 1856.

This institution, has been in successful operation for seven years. The Academic year comprises 4 terms of 11 weeks each, the first commencing on the 2d Monday of September.

The whole number of Students in attendance at present is 62.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT.

A competent Female has charge of this department, and children are received at any age.

THE LADIES' DEPARTMENT IS A SEPARATE ROOM,

Is under the superintendence of Miss. W. A. HALL. Young Ladies recite in Prof. L.'s classes in English Grammar, Rhetoric, Composition, &c., and are taught a neat and fashionable style of Writing. Instruction is given in Embroidery, Drawing, Music, Latin and German, and scholars are taught to read, write and converse in French daily.

C. F. L. takes pleasure in announcing to his friends and patrons the prosperity of this department during the past year. He pledges himself that it will be his constant aim to secure the greatest amount of intellectual and moral improvement, to those entrusted to his care.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

This department is under the immediate charge of Prof. Larigo. Instruction is given in all the branches of a thorough English and Commercial Education, including the Higher Mathematics, French, Latin and German languages, and is designed to prepare youth for college or for business life. Perfect facilities are afforded to young gentlemen for acquiring, in the most expeditious manner, a thorough knowledge of Commercial Science as practically employed in the Counting Rooms and Business pursuits generally.

The Full course embraces the most approved and practical forms for keeping Books by Double Entry, in the various departments of Trade and Commerce, including general Wholesale and Retail, Mercantile Exchange, Commission, Shipping, Individual Partnership and Compound Company Business with Commercial Correspondence in English, French and German. The Student is taught to copy all manuscripts in a bold and rapid hand, which serves as a great auxiliary to him in securing an excellent style of writing—a hand writing in every respect adapted to business pursuits is also warranted to every student who takes a full course with a Diploma.

Through the extensive business acquaintance of the Principal, many of his students obtain profitable situations.

Lady's and Gentlemen's French Class at 4½ P. M.—Latin Class at 7½ A. M.; German Class at 8 P. M. Evening Classes in Book-Keeping, Writing, &c., from 7 to 10.

☞ Students admitted any time, day or evening.—For further information see Circulars.

dec4-d184-d1y C. F. LARIGO, Principal.

LESSONS IN Foreign Languages.

MR. AND MRS. L. S. B. DE CRETY, from PARIS, for four years past instructors in foreign languages in Milwaukee, have the honor to inform the public that they will form classes in the French, Italian and Spanish Languages on the 1st of September next. The course of instruction will be according to the age and intelligence of the pupils, and the classes kept entirely separate, their house being arranged with that view.

Gentlemen and ladies who begin to speak either of these languages, can receive lessons in Reading and Conversation, Mr. DE CRETY furnishing books of the best French authors. Those too wishing to learn vocal music in either of those languages, will find a competent music teacher in the establishment.

The hours of instruction will be from 8 to 11 o'clock A. M., and from 2 to 5 P. M.. And in the evening from half past 6 to 8, for conversation.

Mr. DE CRETY will also give lessons in French, Spanish and Italian, at his office, to gentlemen only, from 7 to 10 o'clock in the evening, as also lessons in Fencing, the use of the Sword, and all military exercises. Persons of delicate constitution and feeble temperament, as also those confined to their offices and engaged in sedentary pursuits, will derive from these exercises, improvement in their health, acquire strength in their limbs and find an agreeable recreation.

Mr. De Crety will also form similar classes for children, from 10 to 15 years old, at his house, or office, as parents may prefer. Fathers and mothers who desire to see their children strong, active and robust, can judge for themselves, after a few weeks trial, as to the effect of these different exercises upon their health.

The continued patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

TO MERCHANTS.—Mr. DE CRETY will take charge of French correspondence to all the principal cities of France and will procure all Price Currents that they may want.

BAYLIES & LINCOLN'S Milwaukee Commercial College

212 and 214 East Water St., MILWAUKEE, - - WISCONSIN.

THE proprietors of the Milwaukee Commercial College would respectfully announce that the liberal patronage that has been extended to this deservedly popular enterprise has led them to extend the field of study so that it will embrace every branch of a thorough Commercial Education. As there are no classes formed in any department of study—(thereby enabling the student to enter any time, each one receiving separate instructions)—the student, on entering, is placed in the Counting Room, with actual transactions to work from, thus making his education not merely theoretical, but practical to the last degree. The Commercial Course comprises Book Keeping by Double Entry, in its various forms, as adapted to Wholesale, Retail, Commission, Manufacturing, Custom House, Banking, Railroading, in stock partnership, and compound Company business, Commercial Calculations in per centage, Exchange, Bank and Regular Discount, Averaging, Accounts by Simple and Compound Equations, &c., according to the most approved methods. Commercial Correspondence, including account sales, account currents, drafts, bills of exchange, &c., &c.

Also, a perfect system of detecting Counterfeit Bank Notes, will be given to each student.

A good Hand Writing guaranteed to every person completing a full course.

During the Seasons, Lectures on Commercial Law will be delivered by eminent legal and business men, and no pains will be spared to make this department particularly attractive.

The Reading Room will be supplied with the various Daily and other papers and publications.

Particular attention will be given to Ladies who may wish to acquire a business education, and separate rooms have been beautifully fitted up for their use.

Merchants and other business men are informed that at any time, by a few days' notice, they can be supplied with competent Accountants, and young men will be assisted in procuring situations when desired.

For terms and other particulars please address

dec9-d808-dtf ROGERS & MERRILL.

CHIPPEWA CO. LAND AGENCY.

WILLIAM J. YOUNG, County Surveyor of Chippewa County,

OFFERS his services in locating Land Warrants on pine or farming lands.

Some good prairie land can yet be found in the lower part of the County. In the upper part there are the best of locations, timbered with Sugar Maple, Birch, Oak, Linden, &c. These last are in the immediate vicinity of the pineries, which will always afford an excellent market.

Send warrants to me by mail, and I will carefully locate them at the following reduced prices, to-wit:

160 acres..............................$8,00
120 " 7,00
80 " 6,00
40 " 4,00

Pine lands, (of which there is yet considerable unentered,) $4,00 per 40 acres, whether in large or small quantities. An addition of one dollar per 40 acres will be required for Land Office fees.

Every location I will personally and carefully examine.

Prairie du Chien Land Agency.

THE UNDERSIGNED having purchased an interest in the Prairie du Chien, (lower town) offers on reasonable terms two hundred (200) lots, situated near the depot grounds of the M. & M. R. R. Co. I am ready to offer inducements that cannot be surpassed in the State, both as to price, terms and location, to all wishing to purchase a site for business or a desirable residence.

The City of Prairie du Chien being the Terminus of the M. & M. R. R., and situated on the banks of the Mississippi river, tributary to which is the whole State of Iowa and Minnesota. It is unnecessary to make any comments, for it is too evident that it must be the second city of Wisconsin.

To any person wishing to make investments, I would say that I have the agency of a large amount of desirable lots owned by the American Transportation Company, in addition to my own, and hereby offer my services to any who desire to make an investment that will prove that Prairie du Chien is the Point to Double Your Money in Twelve Months.

To my old friends, Railroad Conductors and all others, I will say—call and see me, and you will be sure to be rewarded.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Every Man his own Miller. PORTABLE CAST IRON GRAIN MILL.

Young America Improved and Perfected.

THE above mill was patented by Charles Leavett, of Ill., Feb. 27th, 1855. This mill took the first premium at the Ohio State Fair, 1855, over all other mills, and during the fairs of the fall of 1856, the first premiums over many others in the State Fairs of Ohio, New York, Tennessee, Michigan and Minnesota, also, at the County Fairs of the following Counties of Ohio and Indiana, viz: Guernsey, Crawford, Logan, Medina, Ashland, Wayne, Knox, Montgomery Clark, Erie, Lorain, Richland, Plymouth district, Chester, Frederick. In Indiana, Tippecanoe, Jefferson, Wayne, Fayette, Shelby, Jennings, Warren and Fountain.

Farmers, Saw Mill owners, Livery Stable men and all others feeding stock of any kind are invited to examine the merits and superior advantages of the above mill.

The Young America will grind as much corn in the cob, shelled corn, oats, barley, and all other grains for stock as any mill of the same size and with much less draft.

What we claim is great strength, durability and simplicity, being so simple that a child can learn to grind with safety.

In the next we claim the small expense to renew the grinding parts of the mill, and the ease with which the grinders are put on the mill, at a cost of not over three dollars, which makes it superior and more economical than any other mill. The grinding parts of the above mill are made of the hardest of cast iron, as hard in fact as cast steel can be tempered. Each set will grind from 5,000 to 10,000 bushels of grain, with proper usage. Besides the set of grinders on the mill, an extra set will be sent with each mill sold, making it equal to two common mills. When found necessary to change the grinders, almost any one can do it in twenty minutes.

As a proof of the estimation in which the Young America is held in Ohio, we would state that during the fall, winter and spring of 1855–56, 2500 were made and sold in Ohio, at Zanesville, by Douglas, Smith & Co., Hall & Allen of Mansfield, Eldridge & Faucener of Cincinnati, and at New Philadelphia.

At this time there is not less than 200 being sold every week in Ohio, at retail, besides those sold in other states east and west.

The above mill is being manufactured and can be furnished at wholesale and retail, from the Wisconsin Iron Works of A. J. Langworthy, on the water power in the City of Milwaukee. The mill is warranted perfect in all respects.

Dealers in agricultural implements and machines, of the State of Wisconsin, are requested to call and make arrangements for the sale of the above mills, to whom a liberal discount will be made on the retail price; also any others wishing to engage in a profitable business. Would call attention to good men who have teams, in any part of the State, who would peddle the mills through the country. Four can be taken on a wagon at a time—liberal arrangements would be made with them.

The above mill will grind from 8 to 20 bushels of grain per hour, in accordance with the kind and condition of the grain.

Price of the Young America $35—ready to hitch to and warranted to grind as fast as any mill of the same size when properly worked, and with less draft.

For further information address or see the undersigned, sole owner of the right to the State of Wisconsin.

MEDICAL.

BOERHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS

THE CELEBRATED HOLLAND REMEDY FOR DYSPEPSIA, DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS, LIVER COMPLAINT, WEAKNESS OF ANY KIND FEVER AND AGUE.

And the various affections consequent upon a disordered STOMACH OR LIVER,

SUCH as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Costiveness, Blind and Bleeding Piles. In all Nervous, Rheumatic and Neuralgic Affections, it has in many instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on their strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave. Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

NOTICE.—Whoever expects to find in this a beverage will be disappointed; but to the sick, weak and low spirited, it will prove a grateful aromatic cordial, possessed of singular remedial properties.

CAUTION!

The great popularity of this delightful Aroma has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing. Be not persuaded to buy anything else until you have given BOERHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS a fair trial. One bottle will convince you how infinitely superior it is to all these imitations.

MEDICAL.

R. R. R.

THE MEDICAL TRINITY.

EACH of Radway's Three Remedies possesses special curative powers over certain diseases; and when either the Ready Relief, Renovating Resolvent, or the Regulators, are used for the certain class of diseases they are specially designed for, the system undergoes a rapid transformation from its diseased condition to a healthy and happy state of existence.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF.

This remedy is to be used externally, or taken internally, for all pains, aches and infirmities. In a few minutes it stops the most torturing pains, subdues all inflammations and cures the worst cases of Rheumatism, Lumbago, Gout, Paralysis, Neuralgia, Tooth-ache, Burns, Sprains, Strains, &c. It restores the lame, infirm and crippled to soundness and vigor. It is likewise a certain cure and preventative for Fever and Ague, Scarlet Fever, Smallpox, Croup, Hoarseness, Colds and Influenza. Whenever you feel any unpleasant or painful symptoms, take a dose of Radway's Ready Relief, or apply it to the parts where the pain is located; in a short time you will enjoy ease and comfort.

Bear in mind, there is no pain so severe but that Radway's ready Relief will stop, and no system so crippled with infirmities but that the R. R. R. remedies will restore to sound and vigorous health.

RADWAY'S REGULATORS.

The discovery of these wonderful pills establishes a new era in purgatives, and a new principle in the science of medicine. In taking these pills no griping pains or sickness at stomach is experienced; they operate naturally, leaving the bowels, liver and other organs in a natural condition.

They insure those who take them a good appetite and a healthy digestion.

Each pill that is taken gives new life to the blood; they purify it, take from it all impure deposits and equalize its circulation.

One or two doses of Radway's Regulators will entirely remove all distressing symptoms of Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Nervousness, Indigestion, Costiveness, Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Melancholy, and will cure all organic diseases, either in man or woman. Ladies troubled with irregularities or weakening discharges, may rely upon a prompt cure and regular periods if Radway's Regulators are taken.

PICTURE OF HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

A few doses of Radway's Regulators will insure a clear, fair, pure and healthy skin and a rosy complexion. They give to those troubled with weak dull, yellow eyes, a clear and brilliant appearance. Radway's pills give a natural beauty to the face, eyes and head; and the use of the Ready Relief as a wash for the teeth and an aromatic for the breath, will change the most disgusting foul breath to sweetness, and the blackest teeth to Parian whiteness.

One to ten of Radway's Regulators is a dose; they never do injury, but always do good.

CONGESTIVE DISEASES, APOPLEXY, TERMINATION OF BLOOD TO THE HEAD.

Persons of full blooded plethoric habits are more subject to congestive diseases, headaches, rush of blood to the head, than those of a lean habit; bleeding in these cases is highly detrimental, nor does this practice lessen the danger; the difficulty is not caused by too much blood, but by its disturbed circulation, and the irregular action of the heart. Now a dose of Radway's Regulators will correct all these difficulties—they will correct the action of the heart, liver, and all other organs to a natural and regular action, and will immediately equalize the circulation of the blood. Mere purging in these cases will only aggravate the disease.

Radway's Regulators not only regulates the bowels, by which all diseased and injurious matter is purged from the body, but they control the whole system, and, hence, each and every organ, the heart, brain, liver, nerves, bowels, skin, pancreas, bladder, kidneys, stomach, lungs, throat, blood, and every tissue in the whole organization, to a healthy and regular action. They infuse new life throughout the whole system; their action is not confined to any local part of the stomach, like common pills, but they search out diseased action wherever it may be hidden, and expel all diseased humors and deposits from the body. In a few hours after taking a dose of these life creating pills you feel refreshed and invigorated from head to foot. We have known the dispirited and melancholy take a dose of Radway's Regulators just to feel good—they make one feel so happy.

RADWAY'S RENOVATING RESOLVENT.

Cures Humors, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Ulcers, Nodes, Tumors, Fever Sores, Skin Eruptions, Blotches, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Gout, Dropsy, Syphilis, Consumption, Apoplexy, &c; and all constitutional and chronic diseases, either inherited by hereditary transmission, or inoculated by exposure or otherwise.

There is no remedy in the world that will work such miraculous cures in old diseases as Radway's Resolvent. It changes the whole human body—reproduces new and healthy blood.

☞ Bleeding from the lungs—Radway's Renovating Resolvent will, in a few minutes, check Hemorrhage from the lungs or throat. In cases where the patient coughs up clots of blood or pus streaked with blood, Radway's Resolvent will soon remove the difficulty.

☞ Sarah Hammond, of 193 East Thirty-Second st. had a bad cough for two years, she coughed up sometimes half a pint of blood during the night. She was cured in seven days by the Relief and Resolvent.

☞ A sore leg of 21 years cured in three weeks, by Radway's Relief. Mr. T. H. Kilgo, a merchant of high standing in Dahlonega, Ga., says:—"That a gentleman who, for 21 years, had been afflicted with a sore leg, that resisted every kind of treatment, was effectually cured in three weeks by Radway's Ready Relief, Resolvent and Regulators."

GENERAL COMPLAINTS.

If you catch a sudden cold, get a sore throat, or become afflicted with influenza, a dose of Radway's Regulators, and an application of the Ready Relief, will free you from all pain and uneasiness. In a few minutes after the Relief is applied no soreness will trouble you. If afflicted with headache, either nervous or from foul stomach, Radway's Ready Relief, and a dose of Regulators, will remove all pain from the head, and restore health to the nervous and afflicted.

Radway's Relief and Regulators always cures Dyspepsia in its most distressing forms, and nervousness with all its horrors.

☞ WHOOPING COUGH.—Thousands of cases of Whooping Cough have been cured in a few days by the Resolvent and Relief, and if the Whooping Cough is prevalent in the neighborhood, those who take half a teaspoonful of Ready Relief in a little water, once or twice per day, will never catch it. Radway's Relief destroys the infection of the "Whooping Cough."

☞ TOBACCO CHEWERS.—Those who have become reduced by the effect of tobacco, or the indulgence in spirituous liquors, who feel the horrors of incapacity, weakness, sterility, and the infirmities which a fast and intemperate, luxurious and lustful course of life inflicts upon its victims, will find relief from these horrors, and sure restoration to health, strength and vigor, by the use of Radway's Relief, Regulators and Resolvent.

HEALTHY BREAD!

MADE WITH JAS. PYLE'S DIETETIC SALERATUS.

THIS article is deprived of the caustic impurities, so well known to exist in all common Saleratus, thereby dealing destruction to thousands not aware of its injurious qualities. So destructive is it to the constitution of children, that where they and the parents have been regular consumers of Saleratus Bread, there is but little chance for recovery from infantile or contagious diseases. In this way thousands meet with premature Death—the sad reality of which is forcibly demonstrated, in the mortality among children, in the New England and other States, where warm bread and cake is so generally consumed.

JAS. PYLE'S DIETETIC SALERATUS

Is of vast importance to the public, and is rapidly coming into use. Being deprived of all caustic impurities, it is quite as harmless as flour. In point of economy it excels, having powerful raising properties, and is altogether superior to Baking Soda. No intelligent lady will dispute this after trying it.

It is packed in pound packages, each bearing the name of James Pyle, without which it is not genuine. For sale by John Furlong & Co., C. A.
